Word has been received that Rev. Geo. Steele was badly cut by flying glass during the fire at Alderson about three weeks ago. "K. P.'s" Have Successful Dance

Under the auspices of the local branch of the Knights of Pythias a successful and in every way enjoyable dance was held in the Opera House last Friday.

Music furnished by "The Sibbald Jazz Babies" was fully up to expectations and thoroughly enjoyed by the dancers. Some of their numbers into which they introduced vocal work, made quite a hit and in this connection assistance was given by J. Humphries and "Slim" Thygeson.

The local K. P.'s have a reputation for good dances and judging from last Friday's affair next dance should be a most popular affair.

There is a proposal under foot to establish a permanent hostel for the benefit of Canadian Soldiers who have taken their discharge in England. A meeting will be held in the Oyen school house on Thursday Sept. 18th, at 4.00 p.m. for the purpose of re-organizing the local Women's Institute. A cordial and earnest invitation is extended to all ladies of this district to attend.

During the past few years, the members of this organization have devoted their energy to The Canadian Red Cross and its kindred societies, and more or less neglected their own work. It is now felt that the Women's Institute should once again be put on a business footing and the meeting is called for this purpose.

This Week's Pome

To those days of indignation it is oftentimes a question As to what to eat and what to leave alone.

For each misdeed and badness there is a different way to kill an. And in time they always claim us for their own.

There are germs of every kind in any food that you can find in the market or upon the hill or drinking water's just as risky As the recalled deadly whiskey.

And it's often a mistake to breathe the air.

Some little bug is going to find you some day.

Some little bug will creep behind you some day.

Then he'll send for his bug friends And all your earthly trouble ends; Some little bug is going to find you some day.

Eating lobster cooked or plain is only fitting with pomatone. While an oyster sometimes has a lot to say.

But the claims we eat in chowder Make the angels chide the louder. For they know that we'll be with them right away.

Take a slice of nice fried onion And you're fit for Dr. Naugon. Apple dumplings kill you quicker than a train.

Chew a chunky mince "habibi" And a grove purit soon inhabi— Ah! to eat at all is such a foolish game.

Eating huckleberry pie is a pleasant way to die. While sauerkraut brings on softening of the brain.

When you eat banana fritters Every undertaker titters. And the caulk makers nearly go insane.

Some little bug is going to find you some day.

Some little bug will creep behind you some day.

Eating juicy sliced pineapple Makes the critics dance the chaqué; Some little bug is going to find you some day.

The inviting green cucumber Gets most everybody's number. While the green corn has a system all its own.

Though a radish seems nutritious Its behavior is quite vicious. And a doctor will be visiting to your home.

Stop Decrying The Farm

Confronted with the task of reorganizing Canada on a peace basis following the upheaval of the Great War, and faced with the necessity of discharging that task under entirely new conditions and with a new social order demanded by all, thinking men and women all over the Dominion are endeavoring to ascertain what is Canada's most pressing need and how that need can be supplied.

It seems to be fairly generally accepted that the most pressing need of this Dominion is that all men and women should become imbued with the ambition to work as they have never worked before and by their labor produce from the natural resources of this country the wealth which will enable Canada to meet its enormous war debt and heavy national obligations, and discharge the heavy and responsibilities imposed upon it.

Opinion, however, is divided as to the policies to be inaugurated and the methods employed to bring about this development of our natural resources and consequent greater production of wealth. Consequently upon this division of opinion, many phases of the big problem have become political issues in a partisan sense, one party advocating one policy, another party upholding an entirely different policy and course of action. In regard to these aspects of the problem which have become subjects of political controversy it is not the function nor intention of the writer of this article to deal. We leave them to governments and politicians, and to the people who, by electing them to their franchise, make or unmake governments and politicians.

In the final analysis, however, it is the farmers of Canada who must largely solve the problem which confronts Canada today. Farmers represent the greatest and the basic industry of Canada. As a class they constitute the largest group in our population. They are the largest primary producers of wealth in this Dominion. Unless agriculture succeeds, Canada cannot prosper. It is important, therefore, that the country should be impressed by them, and that all governments in Canada should govern themselves accordingly. The government that devotes itself most assiduously to the care and promotion of successful agriculture in Canada will prove to be the best government.

However, while governments can do much and ought to do far more than they have done in the past to encourage and develop the business of farming, there are some things which the people, and more particularly the farmers, must do themselves. Some of these things were referred to by Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for Alberta, in a recent speech which is deserving of the widest possible publicity.

First and foremost, declared Mr. Marshall, it is our duty to see to it that the farmers' sons and daughters throughout the entire Dominion are so effectively trained that they will be qualified to make the best farmers and farmers' wives that can be found anywhere in the civilized world. The arranged Canadian governments for their failure to spread agricultural education throughout Canada. "Never in Canada's history," he said, "was the need of agricultural education so serious. Never in public school did a teacher tell me it would be a fine thing to be a farmer. I never had a teacher say to me that I would be the first and best man to settle down and endeavor to become the best cultivator of land and have the best stock breeder in the country of horses. I never had a horse breeder in Alberta in spite of the education I got in Ontario. In Belgium, the best draft horse breeder in the world, I find in the school text books such lines as 'this horse is a good horse because his feet are sound,' and 'this horse is a strong horse because his back is short.' When I read that I understand why Belgium horses are the best in the world, and then I think of the stuff they told me about the cat and the rat and the hat and the mat."

Mr. Marshall continued: "We have got to teach the boys and girls in the public schools that the finest thing a boy can do is to be a farmer. It offers the biggest opportunity for home building and the greatest opportunity to become a useful citizen and that of tilting the soil on a good farm. We have got to get away from this business of belittling the farmer, and there has been too many farmers engaged in running down their own business more than anything else. They say that it is drudgery, and the ladies at times have said such things as, 'Poor girl, she married a farmer.' That is the kind of thing I want to get out of the minds of the sons and daughters of this Dominion of Canada."

And who will say Mr. Marshall is right? Never lacks of a lawyer, a doctor, or a manufacturer decrying his business, nor their wives and children so. On the contrary, they boast of their occupations as the best and finest in the world. We all need to stop decrying the farming business, and, on the other hand, to give Canada boys and girls an inspiration to take up agriculture. The welfare of our people and our national stability depends upon it.

His Chief Want
The pastor Bolevick held the floor. "I want education reform. I want church reform. I want marriage reform. I want divorce reform. I want here a historic interrupted by a woman who said such things as, 'What you want, old man,' he said, 'is chloroform.'"

Cease Work Upon All Warships
London.—The government has ceased work on all warships on the Clyde, except those about to be launched, according to the Glasgow Daily Record. This order understands that the same order has been issued at all shipyards in Great Britain. This will involve the discharge of many thousands of workers.

It Eases Pain—Ask any druggist or dealer in medicines what is the most popular of the medicinal oils for pains in the joints, in the muscles and in the nerves, and he will tell you that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the greatest demand than any other. The reason for this is that it possesses great analgesic qualities than any other oil.

West Gains Many New Immigrants
Winnipeg.—Since the beginning of the year 15,434 settlers, bringing with them money and personal property valued at $8,377,893, have entered Western Canada. A large majority of the immigrants went to Saskatchewan, 5,026, Alberta 6,154, and British Columbia. Almost all the immigrants are farmers with their families. Many of them are taking homesteads, with some buying improved farms.

Wheat Price May Be Higher

H. W. Wood Says Deal on Sell Part of Crops at $2.30

Calgary.—The Alberta farmers will receive the highest price they had last year for this season's wheat crop was the statement made by H. W. Wood, president of the National Farmers' Union, and member of the Canadian Grain Board.

"How much more than the $2.15 final price is the farmers likely to receive?" he was asked.
"I do not know," replied Mr. Wood. "Last year the millers paid a fixed price of $2.15, and a carrying charge of three cents, making the total figure $2.18. The indications are, and in fact negotiations are now on for the sale of quite a quantity of this year's wheat at about $2.30. It is possible that the export demand will go somewhat higher in the future, and as the export price increases the price to the millers will be fixed on the same level."

Asked as to what the cost of the administration would be, Mr. Wood stated he did not know the exact figure, but would be a fraction of a cent a bushel.

"How does the price compare with that of the United States wheat?" Mr. Wood was asked.
"Number 1 Northern minimum price at Duluth has been fixed at $2.25," he replied.

Mr. Wood stated that the Canadian Grain Board were again meeting the second Thursday in September.

10,000 Yet To Come

Difficult to Say When Rest of C.E.F. Will Get Home
Ottawa.—It is difficult to state just how long it will take to bring home the balance of the Canadian Expeditionary Force now in England. Late reports received by the War Department place the number of men to be brought over at about 10,000. This number may have been decreased by sailings taking place within the past couple of days. The movement of these men is somewhat delayed by the fact that most of them have dependents, and that accommodation boats have to be provided for women and children. If boats are available the remainder of Canada's army should reach home shortly within a comparatively short time.

Seven Whiskey Ships Raided
Saskatoon.—Seven illicit whiskey ships working overtime in the Canada, Sask., district east of here were raided by Inspector J. M. Davis, of the inland revenue department, R.N.W.M.P. and provincial officers. Eight men were arrested, and they paid that over 4,000 barrels of cement will be used.

A debate about which of four quarts makes a gallon would be as sensible as a debate about which of the several forces joined against the Central Powers was a victory against them.—Chicago Tribune.

Third Dose Relief! Fifth Dose! Diarrhoea Stopped.

"Diarrhoea does not tend to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. The sufferer does so quickly understand the strength and brings about a permanent cure. It is often fatal collapse."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only prompt and effective in checking the diarrhoea, but it cleanses the system, and restores the strength of the heart and stomach, and one of its principal points is that it does not leave the bowels in a constipated condition.

Mr. W. H. Arnold, Fort Okanogan, Wash., writes: "A few years ago while out threshing, I had a severe attack of diarrhoea. Nothing I took seemed to do me any good. I was getting worse all the time. Hearing that Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry was good for diarrhoea, I bought up the whole system, and one of its principal points is that it does not leave the bowels in a constipated condition."

See that you get the original "Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry" for the past 74 years. Substitutes may endanger your health. Price 35c per bottle by The J. M. Wilson Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Luminous Trail Marks

Luminous Ribbon Used for Marking Trails Through the Woods.

Here is a war-time application of luminous paint that should be useful in summer camps, on the routes of boys' scouts in peace-time maneuvers, and by citizens soldiers, in marking the landing places of aircraft, etc. The British army had about 500 tons of two or three inches in diameter, coated with luminous paint and having a sharp spike on the underside. These were stuck into the sides of trenches, buildings, fences, etc., or were swung by hand to give signals in the well-known "dark night" height light system, or where silence was imperative.

The luminous discs were visible from 30 to 60 feet to they formed valuable landmarks. Luminous ribbon was also used for marking trails through the woods, and luminous paint was attached to the backs of stretcher-bearers to prevent them from being drenched by their own blood.

It has been suggested that the names and numbers of city streets might well be marked with this luminous paint.

Wants Allied Intervention

British Withdrawal From North Russia Means German Domination There

Copenhagen.—Unless something is done to remove the fear and prejudice with which they are now regarded even by bourgeois, there is little chance for the ultimate success of Admiral Kolchak's Russian forces against the Russian Bolsheviks, said Dr. Camillo Mattioli, who has arrived here from Russia after a four months' tour as the head of the Danish Red Cross.

The bourgeoisie desire allied intervention. The British withdrawal from north Russia means eventually German domination there, especially since Germany has lost her overseas colonies and the only road left her is inland.

Big Expenditure at North Battleford
One hundred thousand dollars is the estimated cost of the new buildings being constructed by the Canadian National railways at North Battleford. The new works include a 115 stall roundhouse, a new machine shop, 86 by 40 feet, a new compression air driven turntable, and a complete new equipment for the machine shop. The new roundhouse is being built in the rear of the existing one, and is built at big expense as the structure. Some idea of the amount of concrete called for in the specifications can be gathered from the fact that over 4,000 barrels of cement will be used.

Mount Vesuvius Active
Rome.—After long rumblings, Mount Vesuvius has begun erupting again, two streams of lava flowing down the valley. So far the eruption has not been so heavy as to threaten the villages at the base of the mountain.

Canadian Soldiers Wanting Land

Approximately 6,500 Loans Granted Through the Board to Former Soldiers

Regina.—To the end of July, 25,000 applications had been made to the Soldiers' Settlement Board by returned soldiers wishing to go on the land, according to Col. R. Innes, director of the agricultural branch of the board's work, who paid an inspection tour to the board's headquarters. Of these, 22,000 had been disposed of and 74 per cent of the 22,000 actually had been approved. Approximately 6,500 loans had been granted through the board to former soldiers and 3,500 discharged men had been given free land grants. The total expenditure to July 31 amounted to $20,500, and the average loan was $310. There was no sign of falling off in the demand for loans, according to Colonel Innes, and settlement was well distributed throughout the entire country. At present there were 600 returned soldiers in the various training centres acquiring experience in farming before taking up land.

All Night with Asthma.—Everyone knows how attacks of asthma often keep their victim awake the whole night long. Morning finds him wholly unfit for a day of business, and he must still be careful to keep his asthma under control. This remedy is in addition to $25,000 dollar offered by the governor of Chihuahua and $100,000 pesos (about $45,000 dollars) offered by the governor of Sonora. This reward is in addition to the $25,000 pesos of Chihuahua for the capture of the bandit.

Livestock Industry in North
Some idea of the extent of the livestock industry in the Battleford district can be gained from the fact that 120 cars of stock have received official inspection since July 1.

A considerable portion of the shipments was from the Turfhorst branch, along which thousands of cattle are being fattened upon the prairie grasses. It should be understood that this shipment represents fat stock and cattle have been rushed to market in an unfinished condition because of shortness of feed, which is responsible for heavy shipments in some dry areas.

When 4 Days Old, Crows and Cried, Cuticura Cured.

"My baby brother had eczema which began when he was about four days old. It was in little pimples and then a rash, and he was very uncomfortable. He was so cross that he could not sleep, and he cried."

"This lasted about two months before we used Cuticura. It helped him, so we bought more, and he was all healed after we had used two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment." (Signed) Miss Almira Williams, Youngs Cove, N. S. W., May 2, 1916.

CANADA'S PART IN WINNING THE WAR

Miss Ruth Olsen's Essay, Which Won First Prize At Oyen Agricultural Fair

Surely the Canadians, looking back upon the most momentous struggle ever recorded in human history, have reason to be proud of their Dominion. She has performed her part nobly and in doing so has exhibited a courage, resourcefulness, endurance, an capability of sacrifice, which have given to her achievements an added lustre, and have astonished all the countries of the world.

When Germany designated contemptuously her written promise to protect the neutrality of Belgium as a mere "scrap of paper" to be violated at will, and proceeded to ride rough-shod over the little country regardless of the universal law of humanity which Britain declared war and was immediately assured of the heartiest support of all her colonies in proof of their devotion to their matchless mother. In this great outburst of patriotism Canada took no unimportant part. The unspeakable behavior of the German army in Belgium aroused an animosity in the breasts of every Canadian that could only be satisfied by the crushing of the monster of militarism.

Each of the provinces, eager to render assistance, gave a generous present. The Dominion gave a million bags of flour, voted fifty million for war purposes, and offered to raise an expeditionary force of twenty thousand men. Within a week forty thousand Canadians had volunteered and within seven weeks thirty-three thousand were on their way overseas. It was not until Canada had raised a volunteer army of four hundred and fifty thousand men that selective draft was resorted to. During the wet season of 1914-1915 the Canadian passed to Salisbury Plains. In February they passed over to France and during the remainder of the war, won memorable distinction and the envious reputation of being the finest type of soldiers in the world. They proved courageous and self-reliant and proved their superiority to the Germans by coming out victorious from every battle where the odds were not tremendously against them. They executed movements as delicate and difficult as they were daring, and it was this unerring precision that broke the moral of the Germans.

Among the engagements in which they have won distinction are: Neuve Chapelle, St. Julian, Langemarck, Vimy Ridge, Lens, Passchendaele, Rostbert, and the first and third battles of the Somme. At St. Julian where the enemy first used poison gas, and where the Canadians were out numbered four to one they held the line and kept the foe from Calais.

Not only is the achievement of the Canadian Corps as a whole one to which no words can do justice; it is the more surprising the more it is studied in detail. There was in it that which the enemy feared even more than courage, a consistent, and for him, baffling skill. In tactics he was time and again outdone.

But the bitterness of the opposition to the Canadians was not due altogether to strategical necessity. From the first appearance of the Canadians on the field—and they were the first of the Dominion troops to serve on the west—the German command seemed to have singled them out for exceptional severity in an effort to strike fear into them. Their sector at Ypres was marked down for the earliest gas attack. Of course we know that the atrocity had quite the contrary effect to what was intended. So far as the Canadians were concerned, the first consequence was to swell the recruiting, the stream became a flood. From the outset the Canadians had shown themselves to be "honny fecters." After the second battle of 'pres they felt that beside the common cause they had a score to wipe out of their own. And whenever opportunity offered they wiped it out to some purpose. The great chance came at Vimy Ridge. If it was a case of 'paying terror with terror, the trenches of the Bavarian divisions holding the position—though he regarded it as a fair fight—re-ayment in full. In the German army the Canadians won for themselves an evil name.

In the fighting on the western front in the latter part of 1917, for our divisions of the Canadian Army Corps under the command of Sir A. W. Currie, fought with and defeated in successive groups forty-seven divisions of the German army, representing one-fourth of the German strength in France and Flanders.

It was in this manner that the Canadians assisted the Allies in France, and from the beginning of the final Allied offensive to its close the Canadian Expeditionary Force played a brilliant part. In the years to come by the sides of lonely cabins and palatial mansions the story whose brilliance can never fade will be told again and yet again. The record of the Canadians in France is in very truth the tale of heres.

But the men behind the men behind the guns are not undeserving of a liberal share in the credit. Though less ostentatiously, the Canadian civilians, both men and women, just as surely did their bit as the soldiers over in the trenches in France.

The three Victory Loan campaigns were tremendous successes. They clearly revealed the spirit of the people and their enthusiastic approbation of the government's conduct and its entry in the war.

The Canadian women have gone splendidly during the war. Nearly every one of them were members of the Red Cross or other organizations whose duty it was to send comforts to the soldiers and prisoners of war overseas. Many of them took over the responsibility of the positions that men held when volunteering, and they filled these capacities more efficiently than even the most optimistic had expected. Still others, who belong to the profession of nursing went overseas to care for wounded soldiers and in near proximity to the enemy guns and constantly in danger of being wounded. Their courage and devotion to duty have earned them the name of "Florence Nightingales."

Last, but not least, the farmers undertook a greater production campaign in an endeavor to meet the growing demand for wheat, for foreign markets.

Now that the war is over and the victory won, the Canadians surely deserve a liberal share in the credit. They have done their bit well and shown themselves true blue in their devotion to the motherland and their successful part in combating the inhuman terror of militarism.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Private F. L. Morley, 50th Battalion, Canadian Infantry. Died of wounds, Sept. 4th, 1918.

We think we see his smiling face, as he bids us all goodbye. And left his dear ones for ever, in a foreign land to die. But we have no consolation—life bravely did he live. Somewhere around our dear one sleeps, a hero laid to rest. But the hardest part is yet to come, when the warriors all return, And we miss among the cheering crowd the face of our dear one. Deeply mourned and sadly missed.
